Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

We are giving space in this column to a communication, that we hope the readers of this paper will carefully consider. It follows:

"The Brussels conference relative to the Japanese-Chinese war has met and adjourned without seemingly accomplishing the result for which it was called. Evidently the ambassadors are lacking the punch to accomplish. The misery and suffering of a great people will be tolerated for a period, then some small incident may emit a spark, and the world will again be a shambles.

"The mothers of the universe will be again called upon to provide "cannon fodder." These same mothers control the purse strings of the purchases of the necessities of life in practically all the homes in the civilized world. Why do they purchase anything that Japan has to sell? Why do they use anything brought to their shores in Japanese ships or from Japan by ships of their own nation? Cannot the mothers of today wear cotton or woolen stockings and dresses, as did their mothers before them? Their grandmothers spun, knitted and sewed practically all their wearing apparel. Can they not for a period refrain from purchasing goods that are exported from any nation which disturbs the peace of the world, and subjects their boys to risk of being called to war?

"Be not deceived. It is not communism that the Japanese are fighting. It is for business. Supplying China with manufactured goods, made in Japan, which China has hertofore refused to buy. The mothers of the world have it in their power to see that any aggressor nation loses more business than can be profitably secured by making war on a defenseless people.

"The hopes, fears and tears of motherhood are the same the world over. The moving pictures show clearly the misery, the mental anguish of the distracted Chinese mother seeking to protect her child with her body from the missles of death, bombs, bullets and shells, while yet she has life. There is hardly the remotest chance that the experience of the Chinese other will be the experience of the mothers of the United States. However, it is not impossible, and if such an experience shall ever come to you, out of the very depths of your souls you would cry out for help, and then you would know, how it feels not to be heard.

"Do something. You have organizations."

The Christian Science Monitor has recently completed a canvas of the American Economic Association in which these questions were asked:

1. Is the 1929-1932 depression likely to repeat itself at the present juncture?
2. Give chief reasons for present recession.
3. What is most needed in regaining the trend to recovery?
4. How can this principal need best be attained?

As a service to responsible authority in private and public life, nearly 1000 of the nation's industrialists, economists, financiers, business men, sociologists and specialists in related fields, have today answered The Christian Science Montor's questionnaire.

CONCLUSIONS

A tabulation of the replies, a detailed breakdown of which will appear in the course of this article, reveals two main conclusions supported by the large majority of the authorities:

1. In the judgment of 85 per cent of the members of the American Economic Association replying to the poll, the current business recession does not contain the elements which will make it a repetition of the depression of 1929-1932.

2. In the preponderant judgment of the members the trend to recovery can be regained by action of the present Congress Specifacilly, the overwhelming mapority list tax revision, a balancing of the budget, less regulation, and a clarification of Government policy as the factors most needed and most attainable at this time.

REV. BUCKNER IMPROVING

Word received from Rev. H. H. Buckner, local Methodist minister, is that he is definitely improving from a severe operation in a Sacramento hospital. It will take him many weeks to regain his full strength. The Rev. Elwood Gray has been employed to preach in the local Methodist church during Mr. Buckner's illness.

XMAS CLUB OF BANK OF AMER. TO GET $8,000 HERE

Bank of America Christmas Club members in Nevada City will receive approximately $8,000 on December first, representing the savings of 162 members, together with the bank interest thereon during the past year.

Nevada City merchants will share in the 35 per cent increase in funds which will be released to Bank of America Christmas Club members throughout California on December first, Manager E. M. Rector, announced today.

Approximately nine and one half million dollars, an increase of two and one half million dollars over 1936 will be distributed to 155,000 members through Bank of America branches in 304 California communities, according to President L. M. Giannini.

In Nevada City, the total distribution will be $7,771.25. disbursed to 162 thrifty members.

"Christmas Club savings are one of the best possible guides to economic conditions," said Vice President E. M. Rector. "Therefore, there is every reason to feel that the coming Christmas will be California's merriest in many years."

It is estimated that 70 per cent of the money saved in this type of account goes immediately into trade channels. The balance is reinvested in savings and securities.

The Bank of America Christmas Club is now the largest Christmas Club in the United States.

FINED $25 FOR CUTTING CHRISTMAS TREES

John J. Detmer of San Francisco was fined $25 in the court of Judge Morehouse at Grass Valley, California, for cutting Christmas trees on government land without a permit, according to a report from DeWitt Nelson, forest supervisor at Nevada City. Detmer had come up with Earl Spencer of San Francisco apparently with the idea of taking a load of trees from the vicinity of Fuller Lake, but was apprehended by H. B. Blanks, assistant to district ranger John Hodgson at Big Bend ranger station, just as cutting peration started. Blanks, according to Nelson, is on special detail until the end of the year for the prevention of illegal cutting of Christmas trees.

Nelson states that the several trees confiscated in this case are typical of the standard generally found that have been secured unlawfully. Being taken somewhat in haste, they are inferior in form and foliage and would not sell in competition with the higher grade trees cut by reliable and experienced tree merchants where the trees have been designatd by forest officers.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETS TONIGHT

President Fred Conner has called a meeting of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce for tonight. To be held in the chamber of commerce rooms in the city hall. President Conner urges that all members attend. Among other things the chamber's participation in the Christmas festivities and decorations will be considered.

TOWNSEND CLUB WILL ELECT NEW OFFICERS

There will be a rousing big meeting of the Nevada City Townsend club on Thursday evening, December 9, in the Odd Fellows banquet hall.

An entire new set of officers will be elected, and they will be inducted into office by Miles Tilden, chairman of the second congressional board, Large delegations are expected from Roseville, Auburn, Marysville, Grass Valley, North San Juan and French Corrall.

Everyone is invited, and a special invitation is extended to ministers and all church people.

The Christian philosophy of the Townsend plan will be presented in a strong, clear and logical manner by one of the new officers, and there will be a short talk by interested business men on the General Welfare Bill of 1937, known as H. R. 4199 now before congress.

UNEMPLOYED TO GET STATE CASH AFTER NEW YEAR

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 29. — The California Unemployment Reserves Commission today had established definite procedure for payment of unemployment compensation after January 1, 1938, James L. Matthews, chairman, announced.

Estimates reveal the number of weekly checks to be issued will be as high as 50,000 for several months.

Procedure as outlined by the commission follows:

Immediately following registration of an unemployed worker, at an office of the California State Employment Service, he begins his waiting period of four weeks, required under terms of the Unemployment Reserves Act. The fifth week will be the first compensable week. The law requires certification by the unemployed worker to the effect that he has earney no money during the fifth week.

To that end, the commission in complying with the law, will find it necessary to obtain certification before the actual check is made out; consequently, a sixth or seventh week to make certification and to allow the orderly functioning of administrative procedure will be required before the worker actually receives his first benefit check through the mail.

However, this procedure will not penalize the worker. Regardless of when he gains new employment, all benefit checks due following the four week waiting period will be delivered to him by the Uuemployment Reresves Commission.

For example: The waiting period required under the California Act is four weeks. The fifth week is a compensable week. In other words, a man goes on the Unemployment Reserve Commission's payroll beginning Monday of the fifth week. Should he fail to secure employment during any portion of the fifth week then he would be entitled to one week's compensation. It will be impossible, because of the large number of checks which must be paid, for the commission to pay the fifth week's benefits to the employee until some time during the sixth or seventh week. If, however, the employee secures a position during the sixth week he will still receive his check for benefits for the fifth week regardless of the fact that he was employed in the sixth week. Similar conditions would prevail thereafter.

This procedure, Matthews said, will not only allow time for necessary procedural activities in mass production of unemployment compensation checks, but also will give the worker opportuuity to have cash in his pocket before he receives a week's pay from his new employer.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB FOR WILLOW VALLEY

An "aluminum" dinner was enjoyed by a group of Willow Valley residents last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Davis. At this dinner tentative plans were made to form a Willow Valley Improvement Club. The club will be composed of twenty or thirty members and their main objective is to work for improvement in the community, especially roads.

OFFICERS ROUND UP 29 ALLEGED VAGRANTS HERE

Rounding up alleged vagrants Friday night resulted in the arrest of a nondescript miscellany of human flotsam and jetsam numbering twenty four. On Saturday night another combing resulted in the arrest of five more of the same. Several were picked up in Schreiber's place and in My Place.

Arraigned Saturday before Justice of the Peace Walter Mobley, those who pleaded guilty were invited to leave town or else—. Several pleaded not guilty. They were granted bail of $50 each. One man put up his own bail, while friends of the others put up bail for them. In searching the 29 men, one man's pockets, who was engaged in gambling at the time of his arrest, yielded two Kings of Spades.

Those pleading not guilty demanded a jury trial. All were finger printed and the prints were sent to the state bureau of criminal identification for comparison with rogue records.

The round up came as the result of a series of petty crimes and burglaries, as well as overmuch drunkenness and peace disturbance in this city. Arrests were made by Chief Garfield Robson and Officer Charles Ninnis. Five pleading not guilty were H. A. Doyle, Newt Heen, Olaf Sheffer, who were bailed out, and Ray Merer and Harold Milhoelm, who failed to provide bail and continued in jail.

SAUVEE EMPLOYE VISITS SWISS COL.

Elton Kendrick, truck driver for Fred Sauvee agent for Italian Swiss Colony Wines, in this district, drove to Asti, Sonoma county, Friday a distance of 400 miles to return with four tons of wine for the holiday trade. The Asti winery is the largest in the world. Staves from barrels and casks were brought from Europe some casks having been in use at the winery 70 years. One brought contained 88 tanks holding 32,000 gallons of wine each, which is aged three to five years. One tank 32 feet high covered a large area. Kendrick states it would cover the Plaza. When first built a dance was held in it. There was room for the orchestra, [illegible]ctators and 150 dancers. Thousands of visitors are shown about the beautiful property, bright with lovely flowers each year by courteous guides.

TRAFFIC DEAD WOULD FILL 17 MILE GRAVE

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 29.—If the graves of the traffic victims killed in California during the five years ending last January were placed end to end they would stretch for seventeen miles.

This is the graphic message being carried throughout the state in a series of safety talks by George Rochester of Los Angeles, deputy director of the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Mr. Rochester said:

"This message, I admit, is gruesame but if its costant repitition throughout the state encourages safety, and sanity in driving on the highways then it is serving a worthy purpose.

"It is our purpose to make this symbolic boulevard of death a 'dead end' street so that it will not stretch out for mile after mile with increasing traffic fatalities.

"Working under the leadership and inspiration of Director Ray Ingels of the Department of Motor Vehicles every attache of the Department is doing his best to promote safety on the highways of California."

CAMPTONVILLE, Nov. 29.—A. J. Heether, local lumberman, partner in the firm of Grant and Heether Lumber company, left Thursday by train at Sacramento for Michigan where he will visit his old home, having been absent for seventeen years. His wife has been there some little time, and will return with him. They plan to purchase a new car and drive it out.

VICTOR SPAHN DIES OF INJURIES RECEIVED

Victor Spahn died Sunday morning at 9:25 at the Landis Clinic. His death resulted from an accident in loading heavy machinery at You Bet. His head and neck were crushed. He leaves a wife, Irene and an eight months old son, Hugo, a mother and father in Roseville, besides numerous sisters and brothers. Victor Spahn had been engaged in work in this vicinity and his death will come as a shock to the many here who knew and liked him.

FOOTBALL

Many Nevada City football fans went to Sacramento Sunday to the game between Santa Clara and Gonzaga. This is one of the first big college games ever held in this region and many who had never been to a college game were greatly impressed by the color and gayety as well as the game itself.

EMPLOYMENT DROPS, AVERAGE EARNINGS GAIN

Mixed trends characterized California business in October, according to the current Bank of America Business Review.

Average employe earnings in manufacturing industries rose 5.8 percent above September while total weekly payrolls declined 2.6 per cent and employment decreased 7.9 per cent. Compared with October of last year, employment, payrolls and earnings showed percentage gains of 4.6, 12.9 and 8.0, respectively.

The index of retail sales, after adjustment for trading day differences, stood 5.1 per cent over September and 2 per cent above October, 1936.

Bank debits in 15 California cities during October gained 4.9 per cent over September in total dollar value but declined .3 per cent from October of last year, while on a daily average basis debits gained .7 per cent and 3.7 per cent, respectively.

October building permit values, excluding a September permit of $6,000,000 for a federal building, were 12.3 per cent below the preceding month.

Prices received by California farmers, as measured by the index of 24 principal products, declined 7 points from September to 116 per cent of the 1910-1915 level but were 8 points ahead of October, 1936.

Carloadings, .8 per cent above the previous month, remained unchanged from the corresponding 1936 period.

Compared with the first ten months of last year, all major lines of business to October 31 of this year showed substantial advances, with percentage gains as follows: bank debits, 10.3; carloadings, 8.7; retail sales, 6; building and construction, 7.8.

CAMPTONVILLE

CAMPTOVILLE TO HOLLYWOOD

CAMPTONVILLE, Nov. 29. — A Camptonville Christmas tree will decorate the home of Wallace Berry, famous movie actor at Hollywood. B. J. Brewer and three assistants from Burbank have spent the past few days in this section cutting Christmas trees, one of which left here with a special red tag and is for the movie star an old friend of Brewers.

VISITS NEW YORK

CAMPTONVILLE, Nov. 29.—Lieu.t and Mrs. William R. Davis and little daughter returned a few days ago from a six weeks trip to New York and other eastern and central points where they visited relatives and renewed old acquaintances. Previous to the trip Lieut. Davis had been in command of a CCC camp at Zig Zag, Oregon. They own the Gold Pan Lodge and will continue to operate their establishment.

McKENZIE MINE

The raise has been completed at the McKenzie mine west of Nevada City and now gives the company a new 60 foot incline shaft. Construction of a head frame started Wednesday. Sinking on the vein which averages between three and four feet, will be resumed in a few days. A cabin has been built on the property and John Craig, nephew of Mrs. McKenzie is living there.

COMMUNITY CARD PARTY PLANS ARE BEING MATURED

The first big pre-Christmas event will be the card party Friday night, December 10, in the auditorium of the grammar school. This is a postponement of the date by one week, made necessary by sickness among the committee. This evening Mrs. James Penrose has called a meeting of the committee at her home on Pine street.

The community card party is given as a benefit for the addition which is being built to Seaman's lodge, now leased to the Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Cubs. The addition has already been completed so far as the exterior is concerned. The roof, foundations, walls, windows and doors are in and what is now needed is money for putting down pine floors and finishing the interior walls and ceiling. There are three roms in the new addition one of which is a commodious kitchen.

This work cost approximately $750 and would have cost more except that Oscar Odegaard, manager of the Nevada County Lumber company, supplied materials at practically cost.

Interested directly in the Scouts are the Nevada City Scout council of which Horace A. Curnow is president, the Nevada City Civic Club of which Mrs. Penrose is president. The club has contributed to Scout funds for many years. The Rotary club, which will be represented on the card party committee by Walter Carlson and Clyde Gwinn. The Rotary club is sponsor for the new Scout troop which recently received its charter. The sponsor of the first Scout troop is Hydraulic Parlor of Native Sons, represented on the committee by Joe O'Neill. Other organizations represented are the Camp Fire Girls for which Mrs. Thelma Keuseff and Mrs. Leland Smith are members and the P. T. A. represented by Mrs. Bonner and Mrs. Gregory.

Elaborate plans are being made for this big affair, the first of its kind to be held in the grammar school auditorium. There will be many prizes offered. Incidentally Mrs. Penrose asks those who can to contribute to score and door prizes. A committee will be named this evening to take care of this phase of the party.

EPWORTH LEAGUE OF TWIN CITIES MEETS

About 150 members of the Epworth League of the Methodist church attended the Placer-Nevada county alliance meeting in Grass Valley Friday evening. It was held in Wesley Hall at the Methodist church and a splendid program consisted of talks from young members of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles and group singing of hymns.

Roseville received the banner this time for the most perfect attendance at regular meetings, rallies and longest distance traveled. There were a fine group of young people present from Nevada City, Grass Valley, Auburn, Loomis and Roseville.

N. I. D. TO SERVE WILLOW VALLEY HOMES

The N. I. D. have six or eight men at work in Willow Valley putting in a water service for the little community. The pipe line is already through Si Sofge's place and the men are now working up the hill toward the Lewis property. Seventeen householders have already signed up for the service and are anxiously waiting for the time when the N. I. D. water is piped to their homes which will be in about three weeks. Work began on the projeet on Monday November 15.

Read 'Em First

"Hello, stranger! Got a moment to spare? Here's a contract I want you to sign. It won't take a second. Here's a pen. That's fine. Many thanks!"

If a man stapped you on the street, hastily shoved a contract under your nose and thrust a pen in your hand, would you sign it on the spot? Hardly! No more than you would sign any business contract without first submitting it to careful scrutiny.

Nor would you be apt to sign an insurance policy, or mortgage your home, without first making sure of the terms and provisions.

In all these dealings, we're usually most wary of tying our signature to unread documents — lest we find we have scribbled ourselves out of a home in exchange for an air-cooled igloo in the Arctic Circle.

But let someone approach us with a petition, place a fountain pen in our hand, and with scarcely a second thought, we obligingly squiggle our name to the proposal and forget about it.

We may have set in motion a worthy campaign for the issuance of school bonds, or we may have endorsed a hare-brained notion to tax automobiles $500 a year, or backed a proposal compelling all stores to remain closed two days a week.

Unfortunately we never do find out. But we are assured of one guarantee—we will pay costs in full for any political foolishness we may have helped launch. Our pens are often flightier than the sword!

Here's a little not of warning. Election time comes to California next November. Sponsors of initiatices are already starting to plug their measures—some wise, some foolish—to the citizenry. Sponsors' fountain pens are filled to the cap. Proposals will soon be waved in our faces.

But this time let's read 'em—lest we reap 'em.— Contributed.

SAVANT HOLDS PEACE IDEAL IS ATTAINABLE

BERKELEY, Nov. 29.—The ideal of world peace and a peaceful society of nations is attainable, according to Dr. George M. Stratton, professor of psychology, emeritus, at the University of California.

In a lecture given in Wheeler Auditorium on the University campus, Dr. Stratton refused to believe that man cannot ultimately overcome all the obstacles which bar the way to peace. He listed these obstacles as: the struggle for existence which is idealized by some nations as the greatest factor in international life, and man's own emotional traits which give rise to national prejudices and a standard of international conduct entirely different from that demanded in relations between individuals.

None of these obstacles, he said, are entirely modern, yet they have failed to bar the way for the advances toward world peace which have already been made. On the basis of these facts there seems no insuperable obstacle still to be overcome before the world can come under some greater measure of "law, justice and good-will."

There are also certain factors which work for peace, said Dr. Stratton. These include the desire for wealth which turns men against the open waste of war, the desire for national defense, the desire for justice and the fear of the consequences of war.

RIDGE MINES

F. J. Homer, in charge of the gravel mine at Weedspoint, near Camptonville, was a Nevada City business visitor today. He stated enough water had fallen so that the company could have started hydraulic operations three weeks ago, but his crew of six men were repairing and building ditches and flumes. Supplies are all in and a winter's run should start before long. Debris is stored behind Bullards Bar dam from this property.

A high school girl, seated next to a famous astronomer at a dinner party, struck up a conversation with him by asking, "What do you do in life?"

He replied, "I study astronomy."

"Dear me," said the girl. "I finished astronomy last year."

THE COP IS GETTING CLOSER

Just Wonderin'

I wonder little pal o' mine,
In your dog heaven far away,
How you would spend eternity
If yours could be the choice today;
Would you elect to chase stray cats
The long, exciting aeons through,
Or walk with me across the hills
And over trails that once we knew?

I wonder why I asked that question—the answer lives in my heart. The rangiest alley cats that ever prowled acrosss the Great Divide, might hiss their insolent defiances, but Ring, my dog, would scorn the wildest ecstacies of pursuit, if my hand could touch his phantom form and my voice reach his listening ears. Those whose lives have been enriched by the companionship of a beloved dog, know that my words are true.

I wonder if there is, somewhere, a magic isle—a dog star in the west, where the fidelity, courage, devotion and unfailing love of our canine friends are justly and amply rewarded. If we, ourselves, are permitted to win immortality by the slow acquisition and wavering exercise of noble virtues, why should the creature, in whose breast they bloom in rare perfection, be doomed to extinction?

Of these and many other matters, we may gain no sure and certain knowledge, but those of us who have loved and lost a dog, will continue to wish for him a heaven to his liking, with many cats to chase, many bones to gnaw, caressing hands and kindly voices, and deep, unfailing love to match his own.

I append here, in memory of your lost pet and mine, the lines written by Byron as a tribute to his own beautiful dog who had wandered away to dog heaven.

"Near this spot are deposited the remains of one
Who possessed beauty without vanity,
Strength without insolence,
Courage without ferocity,
And all the virtues of man—without his vices."

I wonder how members of the two grand old parties are taking to the idea of a "Fusion Party" as suggested by Mr. Hoover. Of course grumbling remonstrances will eminate from many a rock ribbed entrenchment—that is to be expected; but considering the fact that old line republicans and democrats alike, have, during recent years been sorely tried, if not purified as by fire, and that, to fuse means to melt, purify, liquify and weld together by certain firy processes, the term seems almost inspirationally appropriate.

By all means let's have a "Fusion Party," we need not call it that; it could be named more imposingly the Conglomeratic or Conglomeran Party, according to the dictates of the majority of its freshly amalgamated members.

—A. MERRIAM CONNER.

REMOTE SCHOOLS SEEK UNIVERSITY CREDIT

BERKELEY, Nov. 29. — If the University of California boasts a few Indian halfbacks or Phi Beta Kappa members in the next few years, it will merely be proof of the deep penetration that the University is making into the remotest sections of the state in order to aid in the establishment and maintenance of accredited schools. One of the latest additions to the accredited school fold is the Hoopa Valley high school in the Hoopa Valley Indian Reservation in Siskiyou county. The school is made up of both Indian and white pupils, all of whom are anxious to enter the University.

In the same county, the Happy Camp high school, composed likewise of Indian and white pupils, has come into the accredited school list. The move to give this school an accredited standing was led by a Mr. Humphreys, a half breed and the postmaster of Happy Camp; whose two daughters are teachers, and who has a son in the Sacramento Junior College. A third noteworthy school in the same county is at the little lumber camp of Pennant, which for four months of the year is practically cut off from civilization by snows and storms. This school is made up of two rooms built onto the elementary school, and it forms the center of the cultural life of the community. The children receive text books from the county library and bring them home for both themselves and their parents to study. The school has not yet achieved an accredited status, but is being given every assistance by the University.

This penetration by the University is particularly notable because it comes on the inititiative of the schools and school districts themselves. The University does not go into a secondary school unless it is invited. So many invitations have been received that it will be impossible for the University to visit all of them before the first of the year, even at the rate of one a day. A number of them are in mountain fastnesses and other remote sections, that must be reached over tortuous roads often closed by snow and the storms and landslides.

This School Relations service of the University is under the direction of Professor Hiram W. Edwards, assistant professor of physics on the Los Angeles campus, with Professor L. A. Williams of the Department of Education at Berkeley, as associate director.

The WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONAL

by MAX BERNS

Supremacy of the People

Why does our Constitution give the final power to the people and restrict the powers granted to our government?

President John Adams, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, gives the reason:

"As the happiness of the people is the sole end of government," he says, "so the consent of the people is the only foundation of it, in reason, morality and the natural fitness of things. And, therefore, every act of government, every exercise of sovereignty against or without the consent of the people, is injustice, usurpation and tyranny.

It is a maxim that in every government there must exist somewhere a supreme sovereign, absolute and uncontrollable power; but this power resides always in the body of the people; and it never was, or can be delegated to one man or a few; the great Creator having never given to men a right to vest others with authority over them unlimited either in duration or degree.

"When kings . . . governors, or legislatures . . . instead of exercising the powers . . . stated by the Constitution . . . prostitute those powers to the purposes of oppression, to subvert, instead of supporting a free Constitution; to destroy, instead of preserving the lives, liberties and properties of the people, they are no longer to be deemed magistrates vested with a sacred character but become public enemies and ought to be resisted.

To protect us against tyranny and to preserve our liberties, our Constitution gives sovereign power only to the people, limits the powers granted to our government and obligates our courts to uphold our Constitution as "the supreme law of the land."

"Mamma, do angels have wings?"

"Yes, dear," eplied the mother.

"And can angels fly, mamma?"

"Yes, dear."

"Daddy said nurse was an angel last night. When will she fly?"

"Tomorrow," replied the mother.

Mother (to small son who is going to a party): "Now, dear, what are you going to do when you've had enough to eat?"

Little Tommy: "Come home."
